

Curriculum Design in PE – Impact and Assessment

This course follows on from the Intent and Implementation Course. To maximise the impact of the course, it is strongly recommended you attend that course first. This course will help you begin to design an assessment strategy to evaluate your PE curriculum to ensure it leads to students' development in the key aspects of Physical Education.

Key Learning Outcomes

- How to clearly define learning and progress
- Threshold concepts in PE
- Clear end points/curriculum goals
- Identifying the specific knowledge needed to achieve the end points
- How to create tasks to demonstrate progress
- How to create models of the procedural and semantic knowledge students should remember in each area of PE
- How do learning tasks support the retention of knowledge?
- How to use lesson observations to tell you about the impact of your curriculum
- How to use student voice
- What evidence can we gain by talking to staff?
